

	Workshop 2: Thursday, 1:30 – 2:20
A 1 4 * 30	Capitalizing on COVID and Other Current Events in Science Dr. Brad Batdorf; Bob Jones University, Greenville, SC COVID is one of the biggest stories in today's news, but science topics have captivated the news cycle for decades. Climate change, alternative energy sources, genetically-modified organisms, and a mission to Mars are just a few of the many hooks you can use to engage students in your curriculum, develop critical thinking, and promote a Biblical worldview.
A 2 8, 9, 10 * 30	Dinosaurs in the Bible Mr. Skip Tilton; From Day One Ministries, Rock Hill, SC Dinosaurs captivate people of all ages. These amazing creatures are often used to promote the idea of millions of years of evolution. Some are even afraid to teach about dinosaurs. What does the Bible say about dinosaurs? You will be surprised how much! And the real world evidence fits the Bible's real history of the world from the beginning, and it includes these amazing creatures. See how we can use dinosaurs to teach solid Gospel truths and the truths concerning these creatures!
A 3 8, 10 * 30	Fundraising and Financial Stewardship in the Church and School: Building Sustainable Support Dr. Joseph Huss; Growth Ventures, LLC, Des Moines, IA In this seminar, church leaders and school administrators will learn effective strategies for fundraising and financial stewardship that foster long- term sustainability. Explore proven methods for raising funds, such as leveraging community partnerships and product-based fundraisers. Participants will also gain insights into the principles of financial stewardship that align with mission-driven goals. Whether you're looking to grow your budget, fund special projects, or engage your community, this seminar will help you create a successful fundraising strategy while maintaining transparency and accountability.
A 4 8, 9 * 30	The Joy of Teaching – Truth or Fiction? Mrs. Maureen Van Den Berg; American Association of Christian Schools, Washington, DC Most teachers start their careers with a true love for children and a desire to help them learn. Then the reality of school hits: classroom challenges, papers to grade, demanding schedules, struggling students, parent conferences – and it becomes easy to begin dreading our work rather than enjoying our ministry. Is it actually possible to have joy in the job of teaching? Come gain some practical tips that will help maintain the joy in teaching and turn the “job” into a beautiful and impactful ministry.
A 5 8, 10 * 30	Ready – Set – Read! 4.0 Dr. Ed Earwood; South Carolina Association of Christian School, Columbia, SC This workshop will provide a brief review of 10 to 12 books that can enhance your leadership and administrative acumen. The reviews will focus on targeted sections of books that can make your time usage more effective. Variety will be included. Join us for a very helpful and practical workshop.

A 6 3 * 75	Fun with Math? Absolutely! Mrs. Becky Teruel; BJU Press, Greenville, SC Do some of your students cringe when it's math time? Do drills of math facts and the learning of math concepts make students want to run? In this session we will discuss what a successful math student looks like and how to make the path to math success a fun one! Many math games and activities will be demonstrated. Participants will also have the opportunity to share ideas that have worked in their classrooms.
A 10 6, 8, 9 * 140	Managing Behavior with Confidence: Tools for General and Special Education Mrs. Brenda Riley and Dr. Dan Riley; Veritas Baptist College, Fredericksburg, VA Challenging behaviors can appear in any classroom – but when disabilities are involved, responses must be thoughtful and informed. The Rileys share how to distinguish between willful behavior and disability-related actions, offering practical strategies for discipline, social skills, and Christ-centered classroom management.
A 11 8, 9, 10 * 25	Teaching Beyond the Desk: Guiding Families to Shine Christ at Work Mr. Curtis Tomlin; Hidden Treasure Christian School, Taylors, SC In today's world, the values of the Christian faith often stand in stark contrast to those of the modern workplace. This workshop equips Christian School teachers to support and encourage parents as they navigate these challenges. Participants will explore how to guide families in applying God's wisdom to their professional lives without compromising their faith. Through Biblical principles and practical strategies, teachers will learn how to empower parents to remain steadfast in God's precepts while achieving effectiveness and integrity in their careers. Join us as we bridge the gap between the classroom and the marketplace, helping families live out their faith boldly and authentically.
A 14/15 1, 2, 3 * 75	Centers for Multiple Intelligences Mrs. Rebekah Rulapaugh; Bob Jones Academy, Greenville, SC God has made each of us intelligent in different ways. Our students are smart in different ways, too. How can we use what we know about multiple intelligences to differentiate classroom learning experiences in order to better meet the needs of students? We'll learn about eight different kinds of intelligences, consider how we can apply what we know about them to centers in our classrooms, and even look at examples of centers from real classrooms.
A 16 8, 9, 10 * 30	See Something? Say Something! Navigating the Increasingly Complex Issue of School Safety Mr. Steve Cummings; American Association of Christian Schools Legal Office Your top priority as a school administrator is to provide a safe working and learning environment for your faculty and students. With two high profile shootings at Christian schools within the last two years, school safety is on the minds of everyone. In this workshop, we will discuss the ramifications of these shootings, best practices for keeping your faculty and students safe, and a new technology let me assist you in this area of responsibility.

C 1/2 1, 2, 3, 8 * 75	Mother Goose on the Loose Mrs. Debbie Earwood; South Carolina Association of Christian Schools, Columbia, SC Nurturing a love for learning from infancy requires that conscientious effort be made to encourage the mental, emotional, and spiritual development, along with the physical development, of children from birth. There is much that childcare professionals can do to stimulate the development of children's minds and ready them for school and life.
C 3 2, 3 * 40	Building Bridges to Phonics Success Miss Liz McDonald; Pensacola Christian Academy, Pensacola, FL In this session, I'll share how I use traditional phonics infused with visual and kinetic strategies to make learning vowel sounds engaging and memorable. This multi-sensory approach builds fluency – enhancing speed, accuracy, and expression – while laying a strong foundation for independent reading and accurate spelling. You'll leave with practical tools to help your students grow in confidence, critical thinking, and literary success.
C 4 1, 8 * 40	Pathways for Preschool: Parts and Pieces Dr. Julie Madsen; BJU Press, Greenville, SC This workshop takes a hands-on, center-based approach to learning. The Pathways for Preschool program gives tools needed to address little learner's cognitive, social, emotional, physical, and spiritual needs. Pathways is intended to instill the profound love of learning in two- and three-year-olds.
C 5 4, 7, 8 * 40	Purposeful Training with Modern Tools for Middle School Mrs. Christine Hand; Bob Jones Academy, Greenville, SC Many tools for education have developed over the years, allowing us to help students in new ways. Finding balance in timing and choices is important for helping middle school students transition from elementary to high school, and training students with purpose will make the difference in how they succeed with technology. Let's consider how, when, and what technology to use with this important age group.
C 6 8, 9, 10 * 40	A Professional Organizer Goes to School – Papers and Plans Mrs. Maranatha Sweet; Abeka, Pensacola, FL When is it time to eat a frog? When should you shave a yak instead? If your to-do list feels never ending, this session will provide practical organizing tips from a professional organizer to help you decrease the stress, increase productivity, and bring order to your paperwork into planning.
